

Reach key decision makers in China and Australia

The October issue of International China Mining Review (ICMR) will feature a proven mix of insightful, authoritative features written by a specialist journalist team based across Australia, the US and the UK. The issue will focus on:

Safety – the latest equipment and processes being developed and implemented to make mining safer.

Environment – read about the companies at the forefront of the drive to reduce mining's ecological footprint.

Technology – how cutting-edge research is leading to new technologies designed to boost mine productivity.

Equipment – keep up-to-date with trends and developments in fixed plant and mobile equipment.

Why Advertise?

- Guaranteed exposure to major mining industry decision makers throughout China, via tracked mail
- A high quality, dual language publication produced in association with the China Coal Information Institute (CCII)
- The publication appears in digital format on the CCII website – a site with over 50,000 registered users
- 8,000 copies distributed per issue
